No year has laughs without tears, love without hate, victory without defeat, joy without sadness. No warm spring day comes without the foreshadowing of winter. "It was the best of times, it was the worst of times." Written by Charles Dickens in the 1850's to describe the turmoil and tragedy of the French Revolution, these words also apply to today's contrasts.

Not only young people but nuns, teachers and policemen rebel and question authority. Yet idealism never has been more prevelant. Epidemics are virtually non-existant, and life expectancy has increased fifty per cent in five decades. At the same time nuclear weapons threaten to destroy all living things, and pollution is becoming an ever-growing menace.

At Winfield High, elation at winning the Marion County Tournament faded to sadness at losing the WAC Tournament. A rainy Jr.-Sr. Banquet contrasted with the warm, sunny Field Day. As 7th graders received their first copies of the WCHS handbook, seniors apprehensively looked forward to accepting their diplomas.

Homecoming '72

Homecoming is a time for remembering - old friends, teachers, the trials, the joys. It is also a time for the students of today - for bringing everybody closer together, supporting the school and the team, for showing spirit. The excitement mounts to a peak, then the announcement is made. The crowd cheers and tears fill the eyes of Linda Prescott, newly proclaimed 1972 Homecoming Queen.

Class History

It all started that warm summer day in August of 1960, when 74 innocent little creatures crept through the portals of Winfield Elementary School. These nervous little figures were the original "Class of 72." Thirty-seven of this first frightened bunch of kids are in the graduating class today.

New and interesting faces were met, and very quickly new friendships were made.

The situation was very new to us, but our first grade teachers, Miss Louise Aston, Mrs. Lucy McCaleb, and Mrs. Wesley Mae Hill had a wonderful time orienting us to such an organized childhood society.

At first we had some difficulty in arranging those cryptic little shapes and figures in the order the teacher wanted, for, to begin with, we couldn't to save our necks understand how a thought of something could be put down on a piece of paper! But after a few years our teachers finally succeeded in subjecting us to the basic fundamentals of "readin," "ritin," and "rithmetic."

First off the boys had ignored the girls, and the girls the boys. Later it developed into an antipathy. But somewhere along the line the girls and boys became mysteriously interesting to one another and eventually we all had our little crushes and puppy loves. They're so silly now, but then, they seemed so real.

We had several memorable experiences in theatrics over in the lunchroom, and very likely we shall never forget those hundreds of frightening faces and forgotten lines and Mrs. Moore saying "now that's all right."

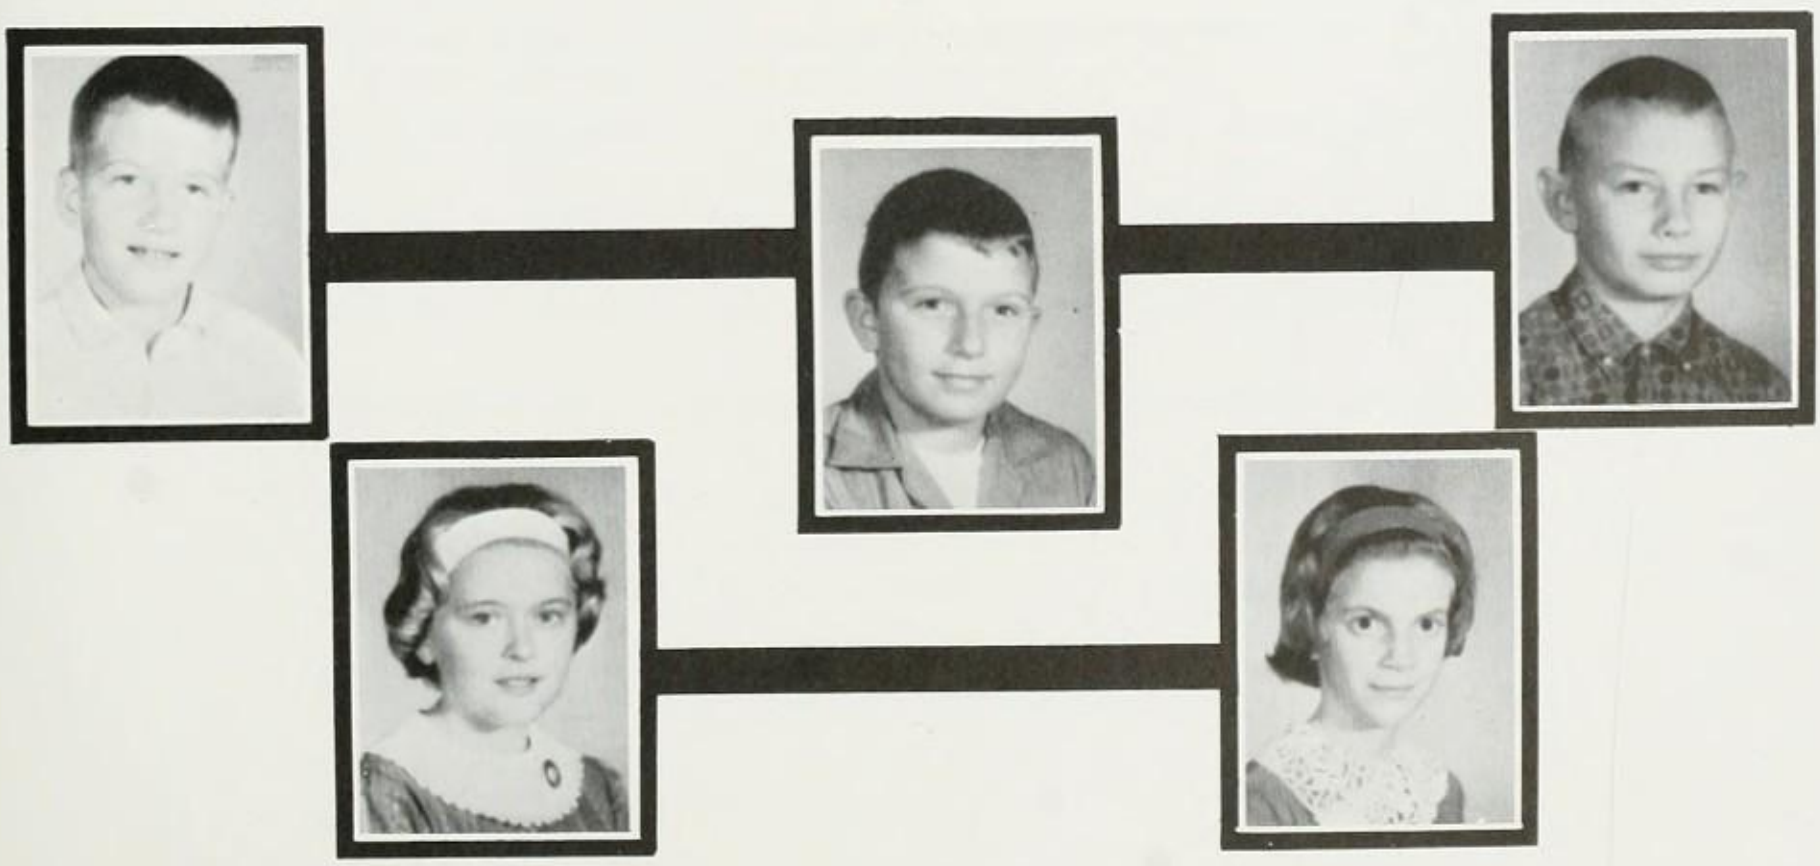
Every day for several years we held the "World Series," (softball style), down in the grove. This activity we alternated with playing Tarzan and Jane in the ditch alongside the grove. Sometimes we even had a Cheeta!

Somehow five years and summers passed ..., and in the sixth grade we were beginning to realize how far we had come.

It was that year that our class made some memorable excursions. Mrs. Week's class went to Rickwood Caverns and Mrs. Deaton's and Mrs. Harper's classes spent a drizzly day at Little Jerusalem in Cullman.

That year, we also constructed our first class float and elected Lynne Kirkpatrick as our first Homecoming Maid. In May of that year, we were the last class to formally graduate from Winfield Elementary School.

That summer after sixth grade, we were really apprehensive of the thought of high school. That fall, our fears were justified. We became track stars running to and from classes. Those tardy bells still haunt us. We finally learned what they meant by Six Weeks Tests, Semesters, Mid-Term and Final Exams.



In a motorcycle accident we lost two wonderful classmates that year in the seventh grade. We will always remember them and how much they meant to all of us.

In the eighth grade we moved into the new gym and began enjoying the luxury of warm showers and heat in the winter. Boy, was that the life.

School became a world full of experiences! Every year, football games, pep sessions, basketball games, tournaments, band concerts, and chorus try-outs were held.

Looking back now, we can see we had our share of musicians and athletes and a long line of lovely homecoming maids.

7th grade	Janet Burks
8th grade	Ann McMillan
9th grade	Pam McKay
10th grade	Susan Segars
11th grade	Linda Prescott

In the twelfth grade we had Sandy Mills as Maid of Honor and Linda Prescott as Queen over Homecoming Festivities.

Our Junior year we worked and connived to give the Seniors the best Jr.-Sr. Banquet ever.

Being Seniors proved to be expensive, time-consuming, and loads of fun! We are now at the threshold of graduation. We will soon walk down the aisle to receive our diplomas and scatter to the four corners of the earth, some of us to higher institutions of learning, some to jobs, and some will walk down another kind of aisle.

Seniors, let us always remember our experiences at WINFIELD SCHOOLS, cherish our classmates, and live by our motto: Give us a place to stand and we will move the earth.

Class Poem

Today, Tomorrow, and Yesterday

Today is a necessity, tomorrow a need
Yesterday is full of shadows we all need to heed.

I'm waling alone now, all by myself,
The hand that used to guide me,
Has taken the back seat in my life.
My opinions, my ideas have all changed,
My whole outlook has been disarranged.

New problems confront me,
But I have strength to cope with them,
Or do I?
Decisions now are of the essence,
The results are my responsibility and mine alone.

My childhood is behind me
A maze of distorted memories,
I have a new life in front of me
One I have to make for myself,
What will I make of my new quest?
Whatever it be, I pray it's the best

Today is a necessity, tomorrow a need
Yesterday is full of shadows we all need to heed.

Statistics

We took a survey of the Senior class and found 51 still had possession of their rings; and the other 23 no longer have any use for their fourth finger.

The Romantic Status of the class reveals 8 married, 11 engaged, 16 going steady, 38 playing the field, and I'm still trying.

The health habits of our class as a whole, don't seem very conducive to long life: 35 drink some sort of cola, one of us likes milk, and an apparently ecologically minded member of our class said his favorite drink was water. 37 had other preferences.

In twelve years of school we apparently have not learned to read because 55% of us ignore the Surgeon General, 20% chew, another 20% wisely plead the 5th Amendment, and an angelic 5% don't partake.

The traditional lover's lane has been abandoned by this class and we are reportedly parking in Grandma's Cornfield, under bridges, in front yards, and more conveniently Pearces Woods.

Continuing with our preferences we find that all two of our Soul Sisters voted WENN and Tall Paul as the Soul Sound of the South while the Anglos went north for WLS and Bill Bailey.

63 of our number prefer Alabama over Auburn and we had a write in for Ole Miss.

At the Cinema, Love Story was popular with the Seniors.

Arriving at the physical aspects of this class, we find that of our 74 members we consist of 70 Anglos, 2 Afros, and 2 perfect blondes.

The average boy is 5'11" tall, wears a size 10 shoe and weighs 180 lbs.

The average girl is 5'5" short, wears a 6 1/2 shoe and weighs a hefty 120 lbs.

While much has been said concerning the impatience of youth I think it is interesting to note that the composite time we have been enrolled in school to date totals 425 years, 8 months, 25 days.

It was the best of times,
It was the worst of times,
It was the age of wisdom,
It was the age of foolishness,
It was the epoch of belief,
It was the epoch of incredulity,
It was the Season of light,
It was the Season of darkness,
It was the Spring of hope,
It was the Winter of despair,
We have everything before us,
We have nothing before us ...

Charles Dickens
in A Tale of Two Cities
